

INSIDE THE CLARION UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

October 11, 2016

Volume 12, Number 7 •

In This Issue

- What is Academic Video Online (AVON)?
- Student Tip: Text A Call Number
- Faculty Tip: Chronicle Of Higher Education Online
- The S.W.A.T. Minion's Tip: Get The Most From Your Mouse!
- Cranial Candy: Word Of The Week ... knell
- Something To Think About

CU Libraries' Links:

Inside The Clarion University Libraries
Read back issues of the Libraries' newsletter

We publish INSIDE The CU Libraries weekly, when classes are in session. Here we share information about our services and resources with the campus community. Current and back issues are available online through the NEWS link on the Libraries' homepage.

What is Academic Video Online (AVON)?

Academic Video Online: Premium \(AVON\) is a multidisciplinary collection of more than 57,000 videos, with 400 new titles added each month. It was created to support the educational needs of college students and faculty.

The videos span essential subject areas including anthropology, art, business, counseling, criminal justice, diversity, education, film studies, health sciences, history, literature and language, music and dance, nursing, psychology, science, social sciences, theater and much more.

AVON includes award-winning documentaries, interviews, performances, news programs and newsreels, features and shorts, lectures, training films, archives, field recordings, commercials, and raw footage. The collection represents content from over 1,500 leading distributors, producers and filmmakers, including 60 Minutes, PBS, BBC, CBS, NBC, Annenberg, Bloomberg and more

For faculty there are platform tools for learning, research and teaching.

This database is available through the Libraries Homepage. In the green "Research" block, click on the Databases link, then scroll down the alphabetical list. If you have questions or need assistance, stop by the libraries or call Carlson Library at 393-2490, Suhr Library at 676-6591, or Clarion Online distance education students may call toll-free at 866-272-5612, (press 5 for Library). Our Chat and other online services are available at the Ask a Librarian! / LibAnswers! link on our Website.

Library Home

Your link to all of the
Libraries' resources

PILOT

Search the Libraries' online catalog

Databases A-Z

Search the Libraries'
extensive collection of electronic journals and e-books

Contact Us

Dr. Terry Latour
Dean of Libraries

Text A Call Number

Did you know that you can text a library book call number to your cell phone?

It's simple:

- At the library Website, go to the green "Research" box
- Click on Library Catalog
- Locate the book or media item that you need
- Click the title to see the full description
- Click on the cell phone image (or the text next to it)
→  Text me this call number
- Fill in your cell number, select your provider, and send the message
- The library location call number is texted to your cell phone

Faculty Tip: Chronicle of Higher Education Online

Did you know that you have access to the full-text of The Chronicle of Higher Education?

It is available from any computer connected to the University network or through the Libraries' Website. We have a link in our Databases list (click the green "Research" box). There is another link on the Journals A-Z list.

If you are off-campus and attempt to access the Chronicle through our Website, you are prompted for your campus network user name and password. Once authenticated, you have full-access to the Chronicle's restricted content.

The University site license is made possible through the support of President Whitney and those offices and individuals that previously had their own subscription and committed to transfer funds to Carlson Library to help pay for the cost of campus-wide access

The S.W.A.T. Minion's Tip: Get The Most From Your Mouse!

Most computer users don't take full advantage of the Mouse. Here are some tips to increase your productivity:

CLICK - SHIFT - CLICK

Many text editors and programs allow you to highlight all (or portions of) text using the Shift key and the mouse. For example, in a Word document, click at the beginning of some text...hold down the Shift key...scroll to the bottom of the page...click again and you will have highlighted all text between the clicks.

SCROLL WHEEL

We all know that the wheel allows you to scroll up and down on a page. Here are two other tricks:

- Zoom in and out on a web page, word document, excel spreadsheet, etc. by holding down the Ctrl key and rolling the wheel up to zoom in and down to zoom out.
- Hold down the Shift key and scroll down in most Internet browsers to go back to the previous web page. Hold down the Shift key and scroll up to return.

DOUBLE & TRIPLE CLICK

Select a single word by double-clicking the word.

Select (highlight) a whole sentence – or paragraph – by quickly clicking three times on a word.

Bonus Tip: If you double-click and then drag your mouse, it will highlight one word at a time.

RIGHT CLICK

Take full advantage of the right-click any time you highlight text or want to view the properties of an object. For example, if you highlight a file or text, you can right-click that highlighted item, copy it, and then right-click anywhere else to paste it.

Cranial Candy: Word Of The Week

knell

PRONUNCIATION:

NELL (the "k" is silent)

MEANING:

When something knells, it makes a slow, sad, scary sound, like a funeral bell. (Hear one here.)

To knell something is to announce it (or indicate it) as if you're using a slow, sad bell. The thing being knelled is usually the death of something (or the end of something.)

PART OF SPEECH:

It's both a noun ("a knell," "two knells," "many knells") and a verb: both the transitive kind ("to knell something") and the intransitive kind ("to knell.")

HOW TO USE IT:

For the first meaning, "to make a slow, sad, scary sound," (the intransitive verb,) say that something knells: "The rains knelled against the rooftops throughout the lonely night." "From across the cemetery, we could hear the bagpipes as they knelled."

For the second meaning, "to announce or indicate something as if you're using a slow, sad bell," (the transitive verb,) say that one thing knells the end of another thing: "Starring in the straight-to-DVD movie knelled the end of the actor's A-list reputation." "Disgruntled employees leaving in droves knelled the downfall of the company." "The prevalence of Red Boxes knelled Blockbuster Video's death."

The noun "knell" is commonly used in the phrase "death knell." Talk about a death knell being sounded, often for something: "Bad ratings on Yelp can sound the death knell for your restaurant." Alternatively, you can say something rings the death knell for something else, or that it is the death knell: "Bad Yelp ratings rang the death knell for the restaurant" or "Bad Yelp ratings were the death knell for the restaurant."

Although we do not "repair" computers, the S.W.A.T. Team (the Students Who Assist [with] Technology) on Level A of Carlson Library is always happy to help. Having an issue? Let us take a swat at it!

Something To Think About

Freedom is the kite's response to the wind.

~ Marty Rubin

COURAGEOUS. confident. CLARION.

CLARION
UNIVERSITY