Project #02-09-10

It's Not Too Late To Get Help!

It is not too late to get help with end-of-semester papers and research projects.

While they will not be available in the wee hours of the mornings, the reference librarians at Carlson and Suhr Libraries will be available during weekdays and most weekday evenings until 9:00 p.m., as well as on Saturday at Suhr Library and Sunday afternoon in Carlson Library.

Stop by the libraries or call Carlson Library at 393-2490 or Suhr Library at 676-6591. Distance Education Students may use the special toll-free number provided just for you.

If immediate feedback is not crucial or if it is a time when the reference librarians are not on duty, you may also submit requests for assistance using our Ask A Librarian online reference form. It is available at the library Website, (www.clarion.edu/library) under the "Library Help" heading.

Don't forget about all the tutorials and resource lists also available at the library Website.

Library Tip: Protect Your Valuables

The end of the semester and the Holiday Season are times when you should take extra care to protect your valuables. Don't leave backpacks, purses, MP3 players, computers, or other valuables unattended. They could disappear before you know it.
Library Tip: Return Day

All library items should be returned by Thursday, December 17th to avoid fines and lost item charges.

If you need an item beyond that Friday, please consult with the Circulation Department.

Computer Tip: Web Page Message … "Done, but with errors on page"

⚠ Done, but with errors on page.

You've probably seen it, there in the lower left-hand side of a web page, that message that says, "Done but with errors on page." What does it mean? Should you be concerned?

Well, to begin, this error usually only shows up in Internet Explorer and it mainly has to do with JavaScript. If the Web site you are trying to view uses JavaScript, you may run into a script-related error, which triggers the "Done, but with errors on page" message. It is usually generated by an error in the site's code and unless you have access to that code, you won't be able to fix the error.

When that error pops up, you should still be able to see most of the site. Just keep in mind that some of its parts may not function correctly. You might have a missing image or animation here or there, but most of the site should still be visible. You may be concerned that the error could somehow affect your computer…maybe even damage files on your PC. I assure you -- it will not. The problem lies within that Web site only and there is no way it can damage your computer.

If you are a Web site designer or editor yourself, you'll want to keep an eye on your site and make sure the "Done, but with errors on page" message doesn't pop up at any time. If it does, go in and look through your source code. The problem usually comes from an improper syntax, an incomplete code, or a script that is placed in the wrong HTML section.

This error message is not one to panic about. Luckily, it is not an error message that can ruin your whole day.

Something To Think About:

Have compassion
for everyone you meet,
even if they don't want it.
What appears as bad manners,
an ill temper, or cynicism
is always a sign of things
no ears have heard,
no eyes have seen.
You do not know
what wars are going on down there where

the spirit meets the bone.
